

OVERLAND TO CALIFORNIA.

Notes From a Journal kept by Mrs. Francis H. Sawyer in a Journey Across the Plains.

MAY 9 TO AUGUST 17, 1852.

Revised and Compiled for the Entertainment of the Readers of the Buckeye News.

V.

August 1.—We all slept well last night and didn't even have a guard out. None of us slept much the night before, as we were crossing the desert. However, I had on my bed in the carriage and slept some in the fore part of the night and the boys did the same thing in the wagon, one at a time. When the time began to tire, we all became too anxious for a safe passage across the sandy waste to be visited by the angel of slumbers or the god of dreams.

We had a weary march of fifteen miles today without water or grass, but we have splendid grass to-night.

Distance traveled, fifteen miles.

August 5.—We had another hard march of ten miles over heavy sand this morning.

This river, however, is a pretty little stream of clear, cold and good water. There are some cotton-wood trees, willow and black-berry bushes growing on its banks, and good camping and watering places are easily found.

Distance traveled, twenty miles.

August 6.—I saw a lady where we camped today, who had a fine son three days old. The arrival of the little stranger had made it necessary for his friends to go into camp for a week or more, and they had settled down to make themselves at home, quietly and patiently awaiting the march that they might resume their march. The lady was considerably situated and in good spirits. I have heard of several children being born on the plains, though it is not a very pleasant place for the little fellow to start the light of day.

Distance traveled, thirteen miles.

August 7.—Mr. Sawyer sold our four-horse wagon and harness this morning for $25. He thought it was not worth taking over the Sierra Nevada mountains, besides it would be very hard on the mules. The men have been getting ready all day for "packing." They will put some light things into my carriage and drive it as far as it will hold out. Mr. Sawyer will walk and ride the last places. I will ride a mule, and the boys will ride another. The remainder of our things will be packed on the backs of the other animals, and we will thus be converted into a pack-train.

We camp at Gold Canyon. There are fifty or sixty miners at work here, and there are three families living in log cabins.

Distance traveled, three miles.

August 8.—Saturday day. Mr. Sawyer went out prospecting this morning up the canyon. He obtained about twenty-five cents worth of gold dust, but he concluded that that would not pay, so we left camp in the afternoon.

I bought some turkeys to take, at ten cents each, and was inclined to think that they were pretty good vegetables. Distance traveled, ten miles.

walked in front and led the first mule and the others followed, with Ben and me in the rear. The road was difficult and nothing but rocks. I could not see the path in the dark, and I just gave my mule the rein and let it follow after the others.

Distance traveled, twenty-five miles.

August 14.—Our road has been better today. We met up with and have been traveling with another party of emigrants to-day. This party consists of two men, two ladies and several children. They, like us, have left their wagon behind and are "packing."

We camp at Lake Springs, where there is good water and good grass.

Distance traveled, nineteen miles.

August 15.—I had the toothache so bad again today that I could take no interest in anything.

We passed some very large and tall pine and spruce trees, and are in camp in heavy timber.

Distance traveled, twenty-eight miles.

August 15.—We are now over now where there are some settlers. We stopped at an eating place, and the boys took the mules and went to the river. One of them got mired and the packs got turned on the mules.

We came to Placerville to-day about noon. On our arrival it was discovered that our dog had been left behind somewhere, and Mr. Sawyer had to go back twelve miles before he found him.

We had a very dusty road to-day, and I tell you I am glad to be in California at last. This is quite a lively place. There are numbers of miners here, and gold mines are near the town; some families have settled here, too. I am stopping all night in a boarding house.

The boys are camping out in our tent, which we all have been sleeping in since we have been "packing," and the mules were taken to a hay yard.

Distance traveled, twenty miles.

August 16.—This morning Ben Lamar and Luke Hall concluded that they would stop here and see the mines. Ben is not content to work in the mines, though his health has improved during the trip. However he is ambitious and wants to dig gold. I intended to leave him very much, but I thought that he could do as well here as any place.

Mr. Sawyer and I left Placerville at 8 o'clock a.m., intending to go to Sacramento City, and we are in camp near a ranch house on the plains.

Distance traveled, thirty miles.

August 17.—We reached Sacramento City at noon to-day. I went in with the pack mules in a cloud of dust. Mr. Sawyer is leaving to whip my mule up with the others.

We have been out three months and eight days from St. Joseph.

We are stopping at the American House, and glad to see that we are here, at the end of our journey and well, though we are tired and need rest.

Mr. Sawyer made three trips, in all, to California. He went overland in '49 and came back in the fall of 1850. He could not content himself to stay in Kentucky, however, and concluded to go back again. So in the spring of 1851 he, in company with my brother, H. B. Lamar and George Bruner, all of Hancock county, went out by water, by the way of New Orleans and the Isthmus.

He soon got homesick again and came back in the fall of '51, thinking that he would either settle here in Kentucky or move with his wife to California. He chose the latter course, hence our overland trip in 1852.

I thank the kind editors of the Buckeye News for bearing with me thus long, and I hope that the narrative of my tedious trip has not proved tedious to the many dear readers of our favorite paper.

FRANCIS H. SAWYER.

THE END.

PIERCE.

Alex Roberts gave a log-rolling last Monday, the 12th inst., and the boys all had a good time. Late in the evening they all got together wild and the wind-up of the wild affair resulted in several persons going home in a pretty bloody condition.

Mario Ballou, of Roberts, Bottom, gave a play party on Monday night, in honor of Mr. Arthur Mattingly, the genial school teacher. J. L. Wellman kept the party a very pleasant time.

All the elements which nature requires, to make the hair beautiful and abundant, are supplied in Ayer's Hair Vigor. This preparation keeps the scalp free from dandruff, prevents the hair from becoming dry and brittle, and makes it flexible and glossy.

The Wedding Ring.

During the fourteenth century a practice prevailed among the wealthy Italians of having twice wedding rings, one for each month, each set with a different gemstone.

For January there was the garnet, for friendship; for February the amethyst, constancy; March the emerald, hope; April the diamond, innocence; May the emerald, happiness; June the rose, health; July the ruby, courage; August the sapphire, faith; September the sapphire, to prevent quarrels; October the garnet, devotion or marital piety; and so on.

One who married in October—let her devotion not disappoint. Many refused it as a superstition not given. Take a better home advice.

THE TRUE PEARL APPROPRIATE.

Brighten his hair and guard the sure and true with pearls. The pearls are the Golden Rule and the pearl is gold.

January broke in the night screaming for the pearl to strengthen the hair and bring it back to its natural color. Immediately one who married in October—let her devotion not disappoint. Many refused it as a superstition not given. Take a better home advice.

The sick woman, just returned from her Southern trip, is better. The "sacred hair" is shining, her cheeks are rosy, and her eyes are bright. The Golden Rule is used a month, and a result is obtained. The explanation is, Golden Rule cures indigestion. No indigestion, no sourness, no heart burn, no nervousness, no headache, no dizziness, no depression or nervousness, and so on.
